

BPW-NC: Where We Meet and How Much We Pay

January 2015

Here are the background facts regarding why our dinner meeting prices are what they are:

- When we first approached Amy in early 2014 about moving to Summer Thyme's, the agreement was that the club would pay $16 per person for "a simple meal of soup, salad, bread, iced tea/water and a dessert bite."
  - Note that $16 is NOT the cost of the meal. It's $13.70 for the meal, $1.10 tip (calculated at only 8% by Amy to help us out) and $1.20 tax, for a total of $16.
- The agreed-upon "Soup, salad and bread" comprised the menu for only the first one or two meetings in early 2014. Since then, every meal has been a hot entrée plus one or more sides, with no change in price. Amy also agreed to add a hot coffee and tea set-up to accommodate our member requests. Some of the desserts, such as panna cotta, have been the same as those Amy sells in the bakery for $3-4 per serving.
  - Amy has now raised her price to us for January, and there is the strong possibility of another increase before the end of 2015.
  - Amy now charges $400 room rent, but waives it for us as a non-profit club.
- The new 2015 BPW-NC dinner meeting charge of $21 per person is less than the $22 that members paid for more than seven years at other venues (Jim E's Club 141, The Holbrooke and 151 Union Square). Two of those venues are no longer options. When we checked in mid-2014, The Holbrooke quoted us about $23 PLUS tax and tip (total about $28 per person).
  - We actually have been very lucky that for seven years, we were able to maintain the same price, despite rising hotel/restaurant costs for food, labor and building overhead.
- We recognize that $21 monthly can be a stretch for some members. The board has to consider many factors in deciding what to charge members for the meeting. This time around, those factors include:
  - Everyone always has the option of purchasing Program Only for $5, which includes hot coffee or tea (and you can often find a dessert available from a member who doesn't eat hers).
  - When we used to charge $22, we had the highest average attendance the club has ever seen, averaging 30-35 members and guests at many meetings. Now, we're asking for $1 less.
  - Inflation has driven up costs over the years, and this is a business fact that simply has to be acknowledged and accommodated.
  - We are unable to find another suitable meeting venue available at a comparable price. Christopher's can approach the price, but in the BPW-NC Member Survey a few months ago, Summer Thyme's was the overwhelming choice compared to Christopher's.
